taining crops to the time of their maturing. I regard this enterprise of manufacturing a guano instead of importing it, a practical and important undertaking, favorably affecting the interests of our common country Respectfully, A. A. HAYES, M. D.

Assayer to State of Massachusetts. Certificate of Professor Booth.

Upon examining the composition of the best Peruvian Guanos, I can perceive no ground for assuming it to be the best that can be made .-On the contrary, there is always present more or less of superfluous matter, sometimes in large quantity. The composition proposed by Atlas of the United States of North America. Odam & Hare's Patent, is, in my estimation, superior to that of the best Guanos, or to any other artificial manure of which I have heard, and I think myself the more entitled to give this positive opinion, from the unlooked for results of the action of sulphuric acid on animal matter, which I obtained in experiment, but which were anticipated by the Patent in question.

Respectfully Yours. JAMES C. BOOTH. Certificate of Professor Frazer.

At the request of parties interested, I have no hesitation in stating my opinion, that the mode of preparing an artificial manure, by acting upon animal matters by sulphuric acid, as detailed in Dr. Hare's Patent, and mixing the resulting substance with animal, charcoal and phosphate of Lime, is correct in theory, and although I have had no opportunity of testing the manure thus formed practically, I have no doubt that a manure formed by the mixture of these ingredients in proper proportions would be found at least to equal in its effects the best JOHN F. MISCELLANEOUS READING. NOTABLE DEATHS.

A late letter from Paris to the Boston Traveller says:

"Mabille, the founder and proprietor of the famous Jardin Mabille, is dead, and his body lay exposed in a chapelle ardente at the entrance of the garden. Imagine priests and a funeral in Jardin Mabille. Charles Mabille was an opera dancer, who made his debut at the Grand Opera in 1834, in La Muette de Portici; he did not remain long here, as soon after his appearance he received a profitable engagement for Liebon, where he remained ten years and made $100,000. On his return to France be founded the Jardin Mabille, on which he spent $60,000. It proved a most profitable investment, and he must have been worth at least $500,000 when he died. So much for the dancer; now for the writer. The day Mabille died of an aneurism of the heart, M. Jules Martinet, long one of the leading editors of the Siecle, L'Ordre, and other newspapers, died at the Insane Hospital, Charenten. He went mad in consequence of privations and poverty. The Society of Literary Men paid for his cell in the Insane Hospital, and for his modest funeral. Make your children dancers! "The Faubourg St. Germain has lost one of its noblest ornaments: the Duchess de Mouchy is dead. Anne Marie Cecille, daughter of Alfred Count de Noalles, Duke de Mouchy (who died in 1854.) She died from grief at the death of her mother and husband. M. Eugene Sue admired her extremely, and solicited her band in marriage; this refusal is said to have stung him into democracy.— The family of de Noalles is one of the noblest in France. Marquie de La Fayette belonged to it. Its history begins in 1112 with Pierre de Noalles, a crusader; it received the title of Duke in 1663, the title of Grandee of Spain in 1712; it has given France three marshals, one ambassador, one bishop, a cardinal, and reckons among its members Marquis de La Fayette and Mme. de Maintenon, the wife of Louis XIV. The head of the house now is Duke Paul de Noalles, anobleman of large fortune, and his heir will probably be the wealthiest nobleman of France, for he will possess the estates of the de Noalles and Mole families.

"Prince Emile de Belgiojoso, the husband of the Princess who figures so prominently in the biography of Miss Margaret Fuller, and in the revolutionary history of Italy. They were separated by the Italian Courts of Justice. He was the handsomest man of Italy in the early part of his life, and Rossini said be was a tenor not inferior to Rubini. He is said to have been in his personal appearance extremely like the late Count d'Orsay. He died of the same disease which killed Count d'Orsay--a disease of the spinal marrow, brought on by the the same causes. Their handsome persons proved their ruin, and burried them to a premature grave. More unfortunate than Count d'Orsay, his mind broke before his body, and the last years of his life were spent in idiotcy. He was notorious for the number and rank of his bonnes fortunes; but as I have said, Don Juan paid for his prowess dearly; before the prime of his life he was bowed as with superfluous years

To the Voters of Alexandria: - As some persons seem determined to misrepresent my position, and are still engaged in circulating the report that I have declined being a candidate for the Sheriffalty, I deem it due to myself to state, that such report (whether the offspring of "political trickery" or not,) is an unqualified falschood-maliciously invented and secretly circulated, for the sole purpose of defeating my election. I now announce myself a candidate, and pledge myself to do my whole duty, if elected. [mh 4-eotE] JAMES SANGSTER.

At the solicitation of many citizens, I offer myself as a candidate for the Sheriffalty of this County, at the ensuing May election, and can only promise (if elected,) to discharge the duties impartially to the best of my ability.
